

- The Kaiser passionately in Germany's army, he failed to succeed as a leader during World War One. He struggled to make decisions or relate to the soldiers. In 1919 he abdicated the throne.

- The Kapp Putsch was when a group called the Freikorps rebelled and wanted to overthrow the Weimar Government.

The putsch failed and Kapp fled to Sweden.

1923 saw three crisis happen.

1. France invade the Ruhr as Germany missed a reparation payment.
2. Hyperinflation and the Spartacists.

- Following World War One and the crisis years of 1918—1923, many Germans began to let loose and express themselves
